HEADQUARTERS, In Australia, March 31.—A new convoy of Japanese destroyers attempting to reach New Guinea has been driven back to the north by Allied heavy bombers which scored a direct hit on one warship and probably sank it, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The Allied planes drove off the fast-moving convoy in a midnight attack with the aid of flares dropped in waters off the port of Finschhafen, northeast of New Guinea.

Although the convoy was sighted steaming southwest from Kavieng, New Ireland, the Allied planes prevented from attacking by bad weather. Anouncement that the convoy had been caught off Finsch-hafen showed that the Japanese destroyers were stopped short of their goal of contacting their troops on New Guinea.

Attack After Midnight

"We attacked shortly after midnight with the aid of flares, scoring a direct hit on the stern of a large destroyer, severely damaging and probably sinking the ship," Gen. MacArthur communicated today.

"The convoy immediately left the area at full speed to the north," he said.

A force of both heavy and medium Allied bombers, supported by a long-range fighter cover, then returned to Finsch-hafen at dawn to Another one of New Castle's notable anniversary today. He is John W. Biddle, of 40 North 92nd birthday anniversary.

Whether March came in like a lion or lamb, it appears today that it is going out like a perfect spring day was indicat-

Boys again led the births of March babies at the New Castle girls close behind with 22. This makes a total of 47 infants born at the institution for March.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The pay-as-you-go tax issue, cast aside by the house and mired in political controversy, today appeared unlikely to be revived

by the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee until summer, if at all.

In the short space of 75 min-

199 to 188, then reconsidered and rejected it 215 to 198, and for a climax, finally pigeonholed the administration's counter-pro-

Such action is usually tanta-

Forge Ahead Slowly Toward Smolensk—Bayonet

RED DEFENSES ARE HOLDING ON DONETS

By NATALIA RENE
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, March 31.—

Soviet troops, forging ahead slowly on the central front toward Smolensk, today captured a German fortified position south of Byeli in a bayonet and hand-grenade charge.

German assault forces attacked persistently in the middle reaches of the North

Donets sector on the southern front but were held in check by Red army artillery.

Nazi Attacks Repulsed

The noon communiqué of the Soviet high command said the Nazis launched some local attacks on the central front but the Russians successfully repelled the assaults. Elsewhere along the front the Soviet forces carried out active reconnaissance.

Further successes were reported in the Kuban territory of the west Caucasus. There a Red army unit captured a fortified point after slaying

150 of the enemy.

The high command acknowledged that the Germans were striving to score a breakthrough in the North Donets region but declared that its defenses held firm.

Furious Tank Assault

The midnight communiqué told of a furious tank and infantry assault supported by strong artillery barrages and waves of aircraft. A guard formation staunchly withstood the assault and finally repulsed

the attacking force.

"In the fighting, our men repeatedly counter-attacked, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy," the communiqué said. According to incomplete data, 10 German selfpropelling guns were destroyed and 22 German tanks were disabled or burned on the field of battle.

"The Germans left about 500 officers and men dead on the field."

It was stated that 18 Nazi airplanes were shot out of the air by Soviet fighters and anti-aircraft fire.

A company of Germans was wiped out in the latest advance below Byeli when the Russians broke into the Nazi trenches, the high

WASHINGTON, March 31.—

As CIO and AFL leaders resumed labor peace talks in Washington today, word was received from the White House that President

Roosevelt will meet with the nation's ranking labor leaders tomorrow to discuss stabilization policies.

First objective of the peace parleys was to work out a practical agreement to out-unions. As the conference opened, the labor leaders were advised that Mr.

Roosevelt would hold his freely postponed meeting to discuss wage stabilization tomorrow.

Speakers will be Joe

Lewis C. Dayton, county agent in charge of Agricultural Extension work, and Miss Ann Quinn, home

New Contract Parley Is Open

Negotiations Between Anthracite Miners And Operators Also Started

SOFT COAL PARLEY ALSO CONTINUES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 31.—Negotiations for a new contract between anthracite coal operators and the United Mine Workers Union covering 100,000 hard coal miners in Pennsylvania opened today at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

The hard coal miners took the spotlight in the coal controversy as the soft coal operators and representatives of the union continued their wage negotiations under the watchful eye of Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the United States Conciliation Service.

For the first time yesterday, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America took part in the closed conference in the joint negotiations between his union and the northern and southern operators of bituminous mines in the Appalachian area.

Strike Threat Delayed

With the threat of an immediate strike removed by agreement of all parties to extend for one month the contract expiring at midnight today, hope for an early settlement of differences was held following the announcement of Dr. Steelman that negotiations were "not deadlocked" despite slight reported progress.

On the surface, however, it still appeared that there was no common meeting ground between Lewis' demand for a flat $2-a-day pay increase for some 450,000 soft coal miners and the adamant stand of the mine operators in their unqualified rejection of the proposal.

Other stumbling blocks in the signing of a new agreement also were evident, including union demands for improved working conditions and the U.M.W. insistence that some 50,000 miner bosses, mostly foremen and sub-foremen be covered by the new contract.

Contrary to reports which indicated that negotiations for the new soft coal contract were stymied, Dr. Steelman announced that he was satisfied with progress made.

CONGRESS SIDETRACKS PAY-AS-YOU-GO ISSUE

When the committee began its deliberations on a new tax collections policy more than two months ago, there was considerable agitation among members then to wait until the new revenue bill was ready for consideration later this year.

President Roosevelt has asked that another $15,000,000,000 be raised. The fact is that many members of the committee found the more they examined the pay-as-you-go theory the less practical it appeared to them. Also the question of withholding taxes at the source, on which all were agreed in the beginning, began to be criticized as the bill-drafting progressed.

The treasury department and most fiscal experts have considered the imposition of a withholding tax as most essential with the tax structure now broadened to include millions of small income persons. Whether pay-as-you-go is revived or not, it is considered probable that the issue of withholding at the source will be reconsidered when the new revenue bill is up for study.

along bad roads to gain ten miles beyond Djebel Aboud and recapture Sedjenane, taken by Rommel in his first fierce thrust some weeks ago which for a time threatened to upset the whole Allied time-table.

Sedjenane is on the main road leading to Mateur, and just south-east of Mateur is Tunis itself.

Swarms of light American bombers relentlessly blasted Rommel's retreating forces and Axis forward airfields north of Gabes and east of El Guettar.

An enemy airfield at Lafauconiere, 30 miles northwest of Sfax, was bombed and strafed by a formation of light Douglas bombers and American Warhawks.

Enemy Planes Shot Down

Nine enemy planes were shot down. One entire formation of four Focke-Wulfs encountered en route to the target was blasted out of the skies. Five Messerschmitt-109s were destroyed when they tried to intercept the Allied bombers as they were approaching the airfield. Heavy damage was inflicted on the field itself by a hail of bombs.

A second formation of Douglas's followed the first bombing of the Lafauconiere landing, hitting many dispersed aircraft and shooting down two of four Messerschmitts which attempted to intervene.

In the north, fighter-bombers attacked tanks and troops, while American Airacobras strafed and silenced a number of machine-gun posts and attacked trucks filled with troops.

British Hurricane bombers escorted by Spitfires destroyed five trucks, blasting them sky-high. Military roads throughout the fighting area were subjected to ceaseless bombardment.

British Advance

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 31.—Britain's Eighth Army, scoring a further advance of more than 10 miles, bounded up the coastal road in eastern Tunisia today to smash heavy blows against hastily erected Axis defenses.

An official communique disclosed that the spearhead of the Eighth Army had passed north of Meloua and Oudref above the captured port of Gabes.

New headway by American forces driving eastward to the sea from the Gafsa area for a junction with the Eighth Army was reported.

In the north the British First Army recaptured the strategic town of Sedjenane.

Navy Shells Retreat

British naval forces, the Algiers radio said, are shelling the retreating Germans along the coast north of Gabes.

(The Algiers station also reported that violent battles were raging in the Ousseltia and Faid sectors of the north-central front.)

The spearhead of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces was in contact with the Axis rearguard above Oudref, pounding heavily at hastily prepared defenses.

The Eighth Army is continuing to advance northwards and occupied Metouia and Oudref early yesterday morning, a communique from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said.

"Advanced elements made further progress during the day and have made contact with hastily prepared enemy defenses."

In the Gafsa sector our forces have made a slight advance to the east, encountering minefields.

In the north our forces have recaptured Sedjenane and taken prisoners.

Air Attacks

In the air: During the night of March 29-30 our bombers attacked roads behind the enemy's lines.

In the Maknassy sector yesterday light bombers made attacks on

La Fauconnerie airfield and continuously bombed concentrations of enemy troops and vehicles. Escorting Spitfires on one raid destroyed two Messerschmitt 109s and on another the P-40 (Warhawk) escort shot down four Focke-Wulf 190s and five Messerschmitt 109s.

In the same sector fighter-bombers and fighters made many attacks on enemy vehicles and other targets. "In the northern sector fighter-bombers attacked enemy positions. In the course of offensive sweeps by fighters one Messerschmitt 109 was destroyed.

"Light and medium bombers of the desert air force bombed the air-drome of El Maoui at Sfax.

"From all these operations seven of our aircraft are missing but one pilot is known to be safe."

The Germans strove desperately to block American eastward advances to the sea as Britain's Eighth Army swept northward along the coastal road.

Pursuit Continues

Advanced forces of the New Zealand units which took the port and communications center of Gabes swept northward in rapid pursuit of the retreating Afrika Korps while American Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's column maintained heavy pressure against the Germans east of El Guettar. Intense fighting raged between the Americans and Germans for possession of the last hill positions commanding the main road from El Guettar to Gabes.

A report by the Algiers radio that British naval units had put landing forces ashore at Sfax, 70 miles by sea and 85 miles by road north of Gabes. To cut off the fleeing Afrika Korps was discredited by authoritative sources in London.

The bulk of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's battered forces were believed to have reached the vicinity of Mahares in their northward dash toward Sfax.

Columns Harassed

The Axis columns were continually harassed by the Allied air arm which blasted at roadways and shot up troop concentrations. Clearing weather in southern Tunisia enabled the United States and British air forces to step up the tempo of their assaults and they were hammering at the Axis rear guard elements and supply columns from dawn to dusk.

A junction between Gen. Patton's forces pushing eastward from El Guettar with Eighth Army forces in the Gabes area appeared imminent. As the spearhead of the Eighth Army pressed northward from Gabes the German hill positions along the Dorsal extending east of El Guettar and northeast to the Maknassy-Mahares road were expected to become untenable.

The strong hill positions of the Mellahat horseshoe and the Djebel Berda now are completely in American hands. Artillery, tank and machine-gun batteries brought up there now are firing down upon the strategic El Guettar-Gabes-Kheibill fork, threatening to cut off the German and Italian positions along the valley road between Djebel Berda and El Saker.

"My step-mother was just getting up, so I shot her in the back twice."

The youth's grandparents then ran from the house to investigate the gun shots, he said.

Shot Two More

"I ran around front and waited," he continued. "When they came back in I shot my grandfather and then my grandmother."

"My kid brother was crying—so I let him have 'em, too."

Young Lathaw then told police that he took $114 from his father's body. He said he wrapped the bodies of his father and step-mother in canvas and dropped them into a well.

Taking his grandfathers' automobile, the youth said he drove to Sacramento, Cal., and several days later went on to San Francisco. On March 3 he flew to Los Angeles, registering in a swank downtown hotel.

He was booked in Los Angeles county jail on suspicion of murder and held for Placer county, Cal., authorities.

LONE LIBERATOR STANDS OFF JAP ZEROS' ATTACKS

American Bomber Also Gives Punishment, Downing Probable Four Of Enemy Craft

By FRANK ROBERTSON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, March 31.—A single American Liberator bomber withstood repeated attacks by waves of Japanese Zeros for more than three hours above the Bismarck sea this morning.

As so often before, the Liberator proved it could take punishment and give it. Two Zeros were sent crashing into the sea and two others probably were destroyed.

Forceful, red-haired First Lieut. Ceylon Brainard of Pasadena, Cal., piloted the Liberator, which was first attacked by eight Zeros. They came from all points of the compass. The tail-gunner sent a long burst into one of the enemy planes, which went down in flames.

The waist-gunner hit the second, which he saw crash into the sea, and two other gunners put a burst into another Jap, who disappeared into the clouds trailing smoke.

Nine More Attack

The Japs broke off the attack after 15 minutes and the Liberator, although hit, continued its reconnaissance. Later it was jumped by nine Zeros. Each made a pass at the American ship, but they were beaten off after three hectic minutes.

One was hit immediately and dived into a cloud smoking heavily. The Liberator turned for home when a formation of four Zeros attacked ten minutes later. The Japs by this time had become more respectful of the Liberator's guns, however, and after a little 50-caliber discouragement they broke away.

Crew's Tally Now Seven

Today's brace of Nips brought this crew's tally to seven.

Guided only by a phosphorescent wake, a flying fortress scored a direct hit on a zig-zagging Jap destroyer during an attack on four enemy destroyers near Finschhafen in darkness this morning. The vessel probably was sunk.

The fortress was piloted by Capt. Fred Wesche of Roselle, N. J. and his crew earned their success the hard way. The plane was twice threatened by fire and eventually landed without flaps or brakes.

New Veal Ceilings In Effect Saturday

OPA Shelves Issue Of Livestock Ceilings, Revamping Meat Price Controls

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—With the controversial issue of ceilings on livestock temporarily "on the shelf," the OPA today proceeded with the revamping of present meat price controls, indicating that new retail beef, lamb and veal ceilings will be ready by mid-April.

For some months the agency has been engaged in replacing the old controls, which fixed maximums at the highest price charged in March, 1942 by an individual seller, with new dollars-and-cents ceilings at the packer, wholesale and retail level.

The effort moved a step nearer completion today with the announcement that specific dollars-and-cents maximums at packer and wholesale levels on the 936,000,000 pounds of veal which are consumed annually in the United States will go into effect next Saturday.

The new veal ceilings precede the heaviest marketing period, which usually occurs during April, May and October, and are only slightly higher than the average of prevailing maximums, OPA said. Price experts said they will not affect current retail margins to any material extent.

OPA's move on veal completes the establishment of the new specific ceilings at the packer and wholesale level on all types of meat—beef, veal, lamb and pork. In addition, specific dollars-and-cents retail price ceilings have been ordered on pork and go into effect tomorrow.

VBC Books Taken To Shenango Camp

Furnishings of the day rooms used for recreation at Shenango Re-creation Depot now include 2300 volumes of readable books, sent to the camp from New Castle public library. The books are part of those collected at the library during the recent victory book campaign.

On Tuesday evening, a large truck, sent by Col. George H. Cherrington, commanding officer, came for the books, which had been sorted and packed by the library staff, under the supervision of Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

As the library at the camp is well stocked with 75,000 books, the additional contribution from here will be placed in the day rooms where the books will be available to the soldiers for recreation reading.

blast the harbor. A heavy weight of bombs was dropped on the docks and the entire waterfront area. Many fires were started and great damage inflicted.

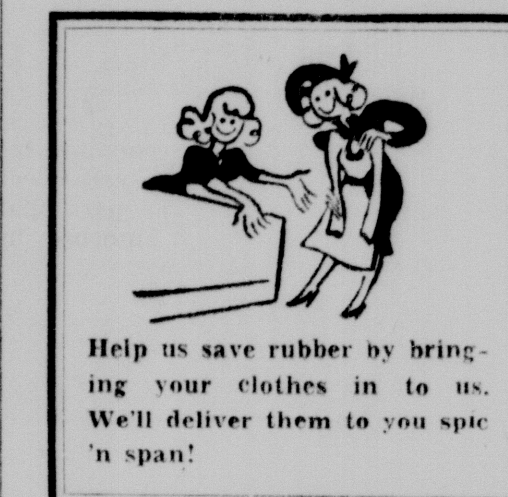

"Barges and boats in the harbor were also effectively machine-gunned," the communique said. No attempt was made by the Japs to intercept either the force which attacked the harbor or the planes which blasted Finschhafen.

"It is believed that any attempt to deliver supplies failed," said the official announcement.

A single Allied plane bombed the airfield at the Jap base of Lae.

Russia's Absence From Pacific War Creates Problem

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—One of the reasons it would be difficult to establish a "comprehensive United Nations" war council" is that "Russia is not in the Pacific war," Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, said today.

Davis made the statement at a press conference in commenting upon the recent renewal of the Russo-Japanese fishing treaty, which, he observed, "does no damage to our interests."

"Russia has been neutral in the Pacific all along because they have a considerable war of their own to take care of in Europe," he told his press conference.

"That is one of the reasons why the establishment of a comprehensive United Nations war council would be difficult. You would have to have two war councils because Russia is not in the Pacific war."

SILVER TEA TUESDAY AT FIRST U. P. CHURCH

A silver tea in the form of a Spring party, was held in the First United Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening, by members of Unit Four of the Ladies Aide.

The table was beautifully arranged with a floral centerpiece, where tea and refreshments were served. Seating was Mrs. Orville Potter and Herbert Varnock. They had their committee, Mrs. F. W. Linton, Mrs. Donald Scoville, Mrs. Stanley Whieldon and Mrs. Eugene Swisher.

Following the social period spent most informally, a silver offering was taken.

NAOMI CIRCLE

ELECTS OFFICERS

Election of officers took place Tuesday afternoon when members of the Naomi Circle held their quarterly meeting in Highland United Presbyterian church.

Officers are: President, Mrs. J. W. McCreary; vice president, Mrs. L. E. Pyle; secretary, Mrs. Russell Tait; treasurer, Mrs. Gayle Blim.

A feature of the program was a playlet presented by members of the senior high school dramatics class. Tea was served afterwards with Mrs. McCreary and Mrs. D. L. Ferguson presiding.

Young Married Class

Young Married People's class of the East Brook Methodist church had an unusually large attendance at a tureen supper recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Anderson, of East Brook station.

Mrs. Pauline Downing and Mrs. John Pontius formed the entertainment committee.

Junior C. D. of A.

On Thursday evening, members of the Junior C. D. of A. will meet at 8 o'clock, in St. Mary's basement, to choose special officers to conduct the initiation on April 30.

CLAUDE C. BRANSCOME HONORED AT FAREWELL

As a medium of honoring Claude C. Branscome, formerly of Allen street, who leaves Thursday morning to serve in the U. S. Seabees, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Leonhardt, of Parkstown Corners, Youngstown road, entertained members of the immediate family Tuesday evening in the form of a farewell.

The hours were spent with a varied program of diversions, and the guest of honor was presented with a handsome gift, in behalf of those surrounding him, by Edward (Mike) Mitchell.

The occasion also commemorated the ninth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edward (Mike) Mitchell of Volant, who were also duly honored.

An appetizing lunch was served by the hostess with Mrs. Helen Piefer and Mrs. John Leonhardt.

The guest of honor, who has been associated with his brother at the Conn Welding Shop, has been given a commission upon his entrance in the service. His wife, Mrs. Helen Leonhardt Branscome, will remain here with her mother, for the present.

Farewell For Army Inductee

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Smith entertained Saturday evening in honor of Sam Sisley, who left for service with the army of the United States on Monday morning.

The evening was spent in games and cards, with prizes going to Mrs. Wayne Parshall, Mrs. Sam Sisley, Ed Herman, and David Wheeler.

Later, a luncheon was served by the hostess aided by Mrs. Bob Davis. Afterwards, Mr. Sisley was presented with an appropriate gift by the group.

Past Noble Grands To Meet

Past Noble Grands of Rachel Rebekah Lodge No. 40 will meet Friday evening, April 2, at the home of Mrs. Elder McCormick, 2102 Delaware avenue.

MUSIC CLUB PROGRAM EASTERTIDE PRELUDE

As a prelude to the Eastertide season, the New Castle Music club presented a delightful program of unusual merit in Highland United Presbyterian church at eight o'clock on Tuesday evening, which was open to the public. This evening of sacred music and poetry, dedicated especially to the approaching Easter period, was given with great feeling and expression by the participants, which was wholly absorbed by a large and appreciative audience.

The sanctuary of the church, illuminated entirely by candelabra and a large lighted cross, provided an exquisite setting for the occasion.

Mrs. Dorothy Gormley Smith presided as hostess and presented Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine as narrator. Mrs. McIlvaine presented the story of the Bible in a simple, sincere and charming manner, reading several poems which were connected in theme with the musical numbers. The whole effect was one of unity and artistic achievement.

At the beginning and the end of the narrative Mrs. J. L. Reed and Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken, well-known organ and piano team, played selections by Joseph Clokey. Outstanding vocal numbers were presented by Mrs. Edward O'Neill, Miss Ruth Drescher, Miss Ruth Weir, accompanied by Mrs. Reed at the organ, and Mrs. James A. Rugh and Delbert Fletcher, accompanied by Garth Edmundson at the piano.

Piano and violin numbers were offered by Miss Gene McIlvaine and Andrew Lisko, respectively. Mr. Lisko was accompanied by John Carlin.

Taking part were the following: Mrs. Jay L. Reed, Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken, Mrs. Edward O'Neill, Delbert Fletcher, Miss Ruth Drescher, Andrew Lisko, M. S. Ruth Weir, Miss Ger McIlvaine, Mrs. James A. Rugh. Accompanists who gave superb support included Mrs. Jay L. Reed, Garth Edmundson, John Carlin, and Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken.

It is with profound interest The Music club has definitely contributed something to New Castle in the way of music appreciation. They have not only kept up interest with their well planned monthly program, but they have brought to light the fact that New Castle is gifted with many artists. The Music club can also take a bow for their annual presentation of "The Messiah", directed by Mrs. William Caldwell, which is anticipated by music lovers of New Castle and surrounding vicinities.

Ushers last evening included Mrs. R. M. Wilson, Misses Marjorie Allen, Geraldine Anderson and Carolyn Rocks.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HONORS SERVICE MEN

Members of the Christian Endeavor of the Central Presbyterian church, met in the home of Joanne McCollum, Hazel street, Tuesday evening at which time a party was held honoring two service men now home on furlough, and two boys who leave this week to assume their duties in the service.

Lieut. James Thompson, of Asbury Park, N. J., and Corporal Neil Shield, of Ft. Jackson, S. C., are home on furlough, and Jack Montgomery and Robert Stillwagon, are to leave shortly.

The hours were spent informally with games and other various pastimes. A special guest attending was Rev. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor of the church.

A delicious lunch was served at an appropriate hour by the committee, Aleta Mae Montgomery and Doris Daugherty.

Firemen's Auxiliary Ladies' Auxiliary to the Neshannock township firemen met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. George Crawford, Wilmington road, with Mrs. Richard Morgan, Mrs. Ed Miller and Mrs. D. L. Hutcheson.

The group voted a contribution to the Red Cross. Members are sewing Red Cross garments. Refreshments were served by the hostesses during a social period.

W. I. T. Y. Club Change Members of the W. I. T. Y. club will meet with Mrs. Richard Moffatt of 121 Richelleu avenue, instead of with Mrs. Earl Moffatt on Florence avenue Thursday night as planned.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HIGH VALUE IN READING TO TOTS

Repeatedly, in this column, I have urged parents to begin reading to the baby at about as soon as he will look at a picture and go on reading to him until after he enters school.

When talking before service groups, I entreat father and grandfathers to read to the baby and young child, especially for the companionship it affords.

Speaking before groups of elementary teachers, I also advise them to induce their pupils to read to a willing younger child at home, pointing out the value for good family relations, moral value to the reading child and the powerful motive to learn to read so as to read for the entertainment of some one at home.

When I discuss with teachers ways to help the poor reader in the third, fourth or higher grade, I say that about the best possible way to help a child improve his reading skill is to prevail on him to read daily to a baby brother or sister under six.

Now and then some teacher, principal or superintendent will ask, "Won't it harm the young child to read to a poor reader?" to which I reply that the barring a few extreme bases, a poor reader at that grade level is not really a poor reader but just reads poorly the kind of material he is supposed to read in his class. Barely able to read at his own level in the fifth or tenth grade, he may read very well at primer or first grade level, the very kind of reading he would do to the baby brother or sister.

Often I discuss in forum fashion, with fourth, fifth or sixth grade pupils, "Getting along with your brothers, sisters and playmates." Many you supposed they recognized no such problems. Well they certainly do. Before such a group recently I asked how many read to a baby brother or sister at home. A number of hands went up. Then from this group I heard about all the good reasons why they should: Keeps him quiet. Helps mother. Makes him happy. Makes him like you. It is fun. Helps him learn new words and phrases and talk better. Helps him get ready to go to school. Helps him learn to be careful with a book. Helps you learn to read better yourself.

My selected list of books from which to read to the baby and young child may be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 43rd street New York City, enclosing self-addressed envelope with 3-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. My son 15 years old says he is going to quit school and go to work. In case I allow him to do so, should he do with his earnings as he likes?

A. Certainly not. Have his pay check sent to you and allow him to have to spend on pleasure not more than he had while in school. If parents would control the pay envelope of their teen-age youths, fewer of them would quit school.

A man hates to find his wife in trouble when he comes home from work. She can't sympathize with his.

You can help save your boy. Clamor for increased production and end the war years sooner.

Money may talk, but most all it says to many of us is "goodbye."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE JEEP

You can take it from the general, from the colonel and the "loot." From the captain and the sergeant and the cook;

From the youngest bright-eyed totkie who is learning to salute, For it's true as is the gospel in the book;

You can take it from the Yankees up in Iceland in the snow, From the Yankees fighting Japs in jungles deep

Or New Guinea or New Zealand or wherever Yankees go, The sweetheart of the Army is the jeep!

It's not very much to look at; it's no fancy limousine; It's not what you'd choose to give your girl a drive,

But when you're going places it's a wonderful machine; It will take you there and bring you back alive.

It's a rough and tumble baby, good in water, mud or sand, It will take a bomb shell crater with a leap.

If you ask the man who drives one he will make you understand: The sweetheart of the Army is the jeep!

Oh, I got it from a colonel who has been around a bit, There is nothing with a jeep which can compare.

When the general's in a hurry, it's in one he wants to sit, For he's sure the little rig will get him there.

Once the Army mule was lauded as the soldier's true friend, But they leave him in the stable now to sleep.

For when transportation's needed for a mule they seldom send, The sweetheart of the Army is the jeep!

Oh, I got it from a colonel who has been around a bit, There is nothing with a jeep which can compare.

When the general's in a hurry, it's in one he wants to sit, For he's sure the little rig will get him there.

Once the Army mule was lauded as the soldier's true friend, But they leave him in the stable now to sleep.

For when transportation's needed for a mule they seldom send, The sweetheart of the Army is the jeep!

When the general's in a hurry, it's in one he wants to sit, For he's sure the little rig will get him there.

Once the Army mule was lauded as the soldier's true friend, But they leave him in the stable now to sleep.

For when transportation's needed for a mule they seldom send, The sweetheart of the Army is the jeep!

Charges Library Of Congress Now Propaganda Agency

Legislative Reference Service Held To Be Spreading "New Deal World Planning"

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—Sen. Raymond E. Willis (R) Ind., charged in a senate speech Tuesday that the library of congress has become a propaganda agency for the administration's attitude on internationalism and the post-war problem.

The agency being used for the propaganda, he said, is the legislative reference service which is supposed to provide factual information for congress and the government.

Librarian Archibald Macleish is carrying on the activity with a grant of funds from the state department, and the office of emergency management, Willis asserted, adding that the program included the so-called abstracting of 3,000 new books, magazine articles, and government publications on the question of peace settlement, absorption of demobilized soldiers into civilian life and post war problems.

Willis charged that the so-called abstracts are almost entirely arguments for new deal world planning. Sample abstracts, he said, include:

1. A government pamphlet stating that only those soldiers would be demobilized who are "not required for policing the world."
2. A book declaring that European economy should not be revived except under sponsorship of the United States and Great Britain.
3. A pamphlet advocating price control after the war, government subsidy of industry and objectives of the national resources planning board.

Movie Fans Of Land Aid War-Stricken

At a luncheon in Washington Tuesday, officials of the War Activities Committee-Motion Picture Industry tendered a check for $1,563,133.50 to the President's War Relief Control Board, which will be allocated to the United Nations for the relief of their war-stricken. Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia, and chairman of the board, accepted the check.

This money represents the collective contributions of millions of America's moviegoers to their courageous allies, given in more than 10,000 motion picture theatres during United Nations week, January 14th through 20th.

"Of this grand total," declared Glenn J. Bell, local war activity committee chairman, "the inhabitants of this city contributed extremely well in proportion to population."

"Local movie fans," Bell continued, "as well as others all over the nation, have earned the gratitude and friendship of our allies. The money given so willingly will go for food, clothing, shelter and bandages for children, women and men in countries which have felt the ruthlessness of Fascism."

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, Parodies Hamlet in the debating Rumi plan in congress: "To forgive or not to forgive, that is the question? To forgive, to forget—and thus perchance to make a war-time millionaire! Aye, there's the rub, gentlemen!"

WASHINGTON—Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio: "There is nothing political about paying taxes."

DETROIT—Henry J. Kaiser: "Every industrialist needs a 'Mayo Clinic' to look after his employees' health."

WASHINGTON—American Ambassador Clarence E. Guass, reports on China: "The Chinese still are resisting and I have every confidence that they will continue to resist. We must not expect too much from them. They are giving all they can."

Pulaski Awarded Navy Star Medal For Heroic Action

Somerset County Native Fought Fire Aboard Ship During Solomons Campaign

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Walter Wilbur Pulaski, 22, aviation mechanist's mate and son of John P. Pulaski, Cairnbrook, has been awarded a silver star medal for heroic action during the Solomons Island campaign, the Navy announced today.

A native of Shade township, Somerset county, Pulaski acted heroically in fighting fire and removing a perilous threat to the ship and crew.

The citation follows in part: "When a bomb explosion set off a raging fire, Pulaski, with cool courage and complete disregard of his own personal safety, tossed burning materials overboard and trained water and chemical projectors against the flames.

"In the earliest phase of fire-fighting, he carried on in such dire proximity to the blaze that streams of water had to be played on him for protection against severe injury from burns. Tirelessly seeking out sources of fire and continuing to combat the flames until they were completely extinguished, he aided greatly in removing a perilous threat to his ship and the members of her crew."

Pulaski's official home address is 311 Prescott street, Mansfield, Ohio. The News, by Mail, One Year, $6.

Ole Bull's Castle Still Flies Flag Of "New Norway"

Remnants Of Norwegian Colony Near Coudersport Less Than 100 Years Old

HARRISBURG, March 31.—The Department of Commerce calls attention to the Pennsylvania site which commemorates Ole Bull's attempt less than 100 years ago to establish a Norwegian community in America.

Ole Bull, world-famous violinist and lover of liberty, toured America. In 1852 he purchased 125,000 acres of rugged mountain land, beautified by rushing streams and small valleys. It was not unlike his native land. With a brave band of followers he arrived in Coudersport, then moved a few miles to the southwest where he gathered his people around him and told them of his dream to "found a New Norway, consecrated to liberty, baptized with independence and protected by the Union's mighty flag."

The little group built homes, a church and other structures. Four villages were laid out—Oleonia, named for their leader; New Norway, New Bergen and Walhalla.

For their leader the colonists built a beautiful Norwegian castle overlooking Kettle Creek Valley, 300 feet below.

However, like many grand illusions, the dream of Ole Bull collapsed. It was discovered that the deeds to his land were not clear and all of his efforts to retain the land were in vain. The colony broke up, some of the people remaining in that area and others migrating westward.

Today the remnants of his dream remain in the two flags which fly bravely over the few ruins of his crumbled castle—two flags—the Norwegian and the American.

Food Subsidy Ended For Relief Clients

School Lunch Program Affected By Ruling But New FDA Feeding Program In Effect

W. M. Walsh, area supervisor of western Pennsylvania, has announced that the Food Distribution Administration will discontinue on April 30 its program of distributing government owned foods to school lunch programs, and on June 30, will cease to allocate foods directly for relief clients. Mr. Walsh indicated that the move was necessitated by the great changes in our food supply pattern brought about by the war.

Discontinuance of these direct distribution programs does not necessarily indicate any curtailment in child feeding programs. Many schools operating under the old plan will receive enough food to continue the school lunches for the balance of the term. Also, school lunch programs now in operation or new child feeding programs can operate under a new procedure recently announced by FDA.

Under this plan, the FDA will subsidize local sponsors of community school lunch programs so that they can buy part of their food needs directly from local suppliers on a reimbursable basis.

The OPA has authorized FDA to dispose of any of its food holdings which come under rationing at a flat eight points per pound, except where the actual point value is less. No rationed foods have been allocated to State Welfare Departments for these programs since March 1.

Mr. Walsh indicated that the new financial subsidy type of operation, which is known as the "local purchase" school feeding program will be available this summer to sponsors of non-profit children's camps.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Reports from the senior wardens in regard to last Friday's Black-out are coming slowly into OCD headquarters. They should have been received within 24 hours according to the OCD. Some reports are not sufficiently informative because they lack the names of violators and in some reports addresses of violators are lacking, it was asserted.

Auxiliary police trainees will meet Wednesday night in the city building. The class will begin at 8 p. m. on the third floor.

D. O. Davis, city director and Frank Sargent, C. A. R. W. are expected home tonight from the state meeting of OCD directors.

Third precinct, eighth ward, wardens, fire-watchers and messengers will hold a business meeting at 8 p. m. tonight at the home of Charles Marshall, 618 Etna street.

Members of the Ellen Bell Missionary society will be entertained Thursday at the home of Mrs. Gladys McConnell for their April meeting.

PICTURES OF SERVICE MEN TO BE DISPLAYED

In the display case in the lobby of the public library, the library staff is planning to display pictures of borrowers and former employees who are now serving with the armed forces.

A few pictures, some enlarged snapshot size, and others photograph size, have already been loaned to the library for this exhibit, and as soon as a few more are received they will be put on display in the case. Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, said today.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

"SPOTLIGHT Bands", the radio program broadcast over Blue Network every week night for Coca-Cola, features the nation's favorite name bands. Their names mean something because their bands have something extra to offer. Coca-Cola got where it is by offering something that more than quenches thirst. It brings a delightful after-sense of refreshment, too.

In ice-cold Coca-Cola you find quality you count on. You find delicious taste that sets it apart. You find refreshment that goes into energy. Anybody can make a soft drink, but only The Coca-Cola Company makes Coca-Cola. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Both mean the same thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

Lines are put in, stages fixed, loudspeakers hooked up, and rehearsal begins. Soon, the boys in uniform will hear their favorite band in person just as their families will on their home radios.

Last Opportunity To Register For Training Classes

War Training Program Registrations To Be Concluded
Thursday Night

Here is the last call for registration in the current Penn State war training program. Registration will be from 7 to 10:30 p. m. on Thursday, April 1.

There is still room for a half dozen students in the industrial accounting class.

A course in industrial organization and management will be presented if and when a few more qualified persons register for this course.

A course in operations inspection will be presented in the near future. Registration can still be effected in the courses already underway.

These courses are chemistry of metals and alloys, engineering drafting I and II, office supervision for women, time and motion study, and manufacturing procedures for women.

L. V. Clark, chemist at the American Cyanamid Company is the instructor of the course of chemistry of metals and alloys.

Engineering drafting I students are taught by Glen Throop of the United Engineering Company.

The course in engineering drafting II is being instructed by A. T. Eckles, of the United Engineering Company.

Office supervision for women is taught by Earl McKenzie, a member of the Senior high school faculty.

The course in time and motion study is handled by James Myles, of the Aluminum Company of America.

The mathematics section of the manufacturing procedures for women is taught by Robert S. Sadler, of the Johnson Bronze Company.

A course in applied engineering mathematics is being presented by Westminster College, representing Carnegie-Tech. Applications for instruction will also be accepted here on Thursday night, April 1.

VETERAN POLICE
HORSE RETIRES ON CLOVER PENSION

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 31.—Old Robin, veteran of 19 years with the Pittsburgh mounted police, is going to live in clover for the rest of his life.

County Commissioner George Rankin announced that Robin, a silver gelding, will go on pension at county expense and live a quiet existence in pasture.

A week ago, old Robin had been scheduled to go on the auction block with nine other police horses, but a storm of protest letters flooded the county offices.

Monongahela Ensign Awarded Navy Medal

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Ensign John L. Coulter, Monongahela, who flew a patrol plane on an average of 14 hours a day for four days during the initial battle of the Solomons, has been awarded the navy air medal, the navy announced today.

The medal was awarded, the citation states, "for meritorious achievement while participating as a member of the crew of a patrol plane during action against Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands area."

Ensign Coulter, 26, has been missing since his plane was forced down at sea by enemy planes. He is the son of Mrs. Ida M. Coulter, Monongahela.

MT. JACKSON

LADIES AUXILIARY

Ladies Auxiliary of the Earl J. Watt Post, American Legion, Unit No. 638, held its meeting Monday evening in the Legion Home. Reports were made and approved, and six boxes of food were packed for service men. The blanket awards were as follows: Flossie Andrews, Lucille Johnston and Ada Scott. Beth Martin and Ada Scott served lunch.

The auxiliary will meet next on Monday evening, April 12, in the Legion Home.

MT. JACKSON NOTES

Victory Girls met Tuesday at the home of Cornelia Bazley when the following officers were elected: president, Carrie Jane Mauney; vice president, Cornelia Bazley; secretary, Dorothy Williams; treasurer, Grace Hallman; assistant treasurer and reporter, Esther Bradley.

The club will meet next Tuesday at the home of Margaret and Betty Bailey, 806 State street.

Thursday at 8 p. m. in St. Paul's Baptist church, 614 West North street, there will be a general church meeting.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Paul's, Rev. Charles W. Lee, traveling missionary of the Eastern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia Association, will be the speaker. At 8 p. m., the Ever Ready chorus of Youngstown will sing.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA GUESTS TUESDAY NIGHT

Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta met with Mrs. Arthur Borland on Englewood avenue, Tuesday evening, who had as co-hostesses, Miss Martha Leivo and Mrs. John Boyles.

They welcomed as their guest, Mrs. Eben Reid of Rockhill, N. C., who has been visiting in New Castle for the past six weeks.

Business was conducted, and after a period of bridge, the hosts served a tasty repast.

American Home Watchmen

American Home Watchmen No. 45, held a business meeting in McGoun hall, Tuesday evening, with a social time following. Cards and contests were enjoyed, with awards going to Mrs. Maria Pence, Mrs. Dorothy Grossman, Tom Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. George Nolte, Mrs. Alice White and Robert Richardson. The sum of five dollars ($5.00) was pledged to the Red Cross Chapter by the H. and H. club of the American Home Watchmen.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ruth Cook and her group of aides at the close.

In two weeks, members will meet at the same place, with Mrs. George Nolte in charge.

C. R. C. Club Guests

An enjoyable meeting for the C. R. C. club was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Dale Tindall on the Mt. Jackson road, with attention being devoted to card playing.

Honor prizes for the three table game, fell to Mrs. Blaine Farver, Miss Beryl Cameron and Mrs. Arnold Figuley. A special guest, Mrs. William Gebbert was the recipient of a hostess gift.

In serving a delicious lunch, the hostess was aided by her mother, Mrs. H. Saiter.

On Friday, April 16, Mrs. Glenn Tindall will entertain in the home of Mrs. Dale Tindall.

Amity Club

Mrs. Lowell Fulton of Seventh street, opened her home to Amity club members on Tuesday evening, the time being spent in playing cards.

Mrs. William Mooney, Ida Casaccia and Mary Bullano were the prize winners. The birthday of the latter was appropriately celebrated, when the club remembered her with a gift.

Miss Carrie Sanfilippo shared as a special guest of the event.

General Freyburg, Of Mareth Line Triumph, Is Colorful Person

By EARLE POORBAUGH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 31. — Another hero of titanic proportions emerged from the second World War Tuesday.

He is Maj. Gen. Bernard Cyril Freyburg, who accomplished the "impossible" by leading a flanking force of the British Eighth Army south and west around the Mareth Line to send Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel hurtling northward in wild retreat.

The war has produced no more colorful figure than this husky one-time dentist's assistant, now commander of the New Zealand expeditionary force, holder of the Victoria Cross, the Distinguished Service Order, and the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Has Had Varied Career

Among other things he has in his career:

- 1—Made his living in the prize ring.
- 2—Served as a guerrilla fighter in Mexico with the famous Pancho Villa.
- 3—Attempted and almost succeeded in swimming the English Channel.
- 4—Became the first British soldier to land at Gallipoli in the last war by painting his body black, leaping overboard from a destroyer and swimming two miles to shore.

It was on the western front in the last war that "Tiny" Freyburg, as he is known, won the Victoria Cross, the highest military decoration in Britain's military roster.

Freyburg was a dentist's assistant in Wellington, N. Z., when the first World War broke out.

Demands Commission

Freyburg made his way to London and waylaid Winston Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, on the street, boldly introduced himself and demanded a commission.

They say that Churchill can tell a real fighting man at a glance. In any case, he saw something in this brash young man who so unceremoniously accosted him and said:

"Very well, young man, you shall have your commission."

Assigned To Crete

When this war broke out, Freyburg was assigned to command of the New Zealand expeditionary force. Finally, when Adolf Hitler succeeded in overrunning the European continent, he was given the thankless and hopeless task of defending the island of Crete.

History will credit Maj. Gen. Freyburg with holding that little island against swarms of paratroopers and enemy planes far longer than anyone dreamed possible, for he had no artillery.

From Crete Freyburg went directly to North Africa.

Then, with announcement that the Mareth Line had been flanked, that a British column had swept over 100 miles of the world's worst territory and completely outwitted so-called "Foxy" Rommel, everyone began to ask: "Who in thunder could have done that job?"

Churchill gave the answer in the House of Commons today: "Tiny" Freyburg, ace of daredevils.

Today Is Last For Slaughter Permits

Dorris L. Fulkman, chairman of the Lawrence County War board of the United States Department of Agriculture, warned all individuals who slaughter meat for sale, as well as livestock dealers and agents, that midnight, March 31, is the deadline for operating without a slaughter permit. This is in compliance with Food Distribution Order No. 26 and No. 27 issued by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard as part of the government's plan to control the meat supply of the nation and stamp out the meat black market.

Slaughterers are divided into three classes under the order. "Farm slaughterers" include all resident farm operators who in 1941 delivered meat from the slaughter of livestock totaling more than 10,000 pounds; "butchers" include all persons, other than farm slaughterers, who in 1941 slaughtered not more than 300,000 pounds, live weight; "local slaughterers" include all persons who in 1941 slaughtered livestock with a total live weight of more than 300,000 pounds, and who are not registered as "quota slaughterers" under meat restriction order No. 1.

AROUND CITY HALL

Harry Mooney of 617 East Reynolds street, reported to police the theft of a motor.

Samuel Dominic of 115 North Wayne avenue, reported to police rubbish is being dumped on railroad property at Cherry street and Wayne avenue. The report was referred to Sanitary Policeman Chauncey Davis.

Police have already received complaints of dogs roaming in various parts of the city. The owner of a dog can be held responsible for the actions of his dog. An ordinance now enroute through council may result in fines being administered if gardens are damaged.

Police have been requested by the OCD to endeavor to apprehend the person who reportedly damaged a "B. O." switch in the Wright building.

Streets sweeper operated in North Hill streets last night and trucks today removed the dirt from where it was discharged by the sweeping machine.

City has an ordinance which prohibits the scattering of ashes in alleys because the ashes may contain nails or glass which will ruin autos. A watch is being kept for violators.

Chickens are to be kept in the city. Under an ordinance a coop must be 20 feet distant from a residence. Several permits for coops have been granted by the city's bureau of building.

Chris Coulthard, manager of Cascade Park, announced today a Clean up campaign has started at Cascade park. Relative to painting he stated there will not be a large amount of painting done there this spring.

City Solicitor Robert White is drafting a bill which council ordered and which when adopted will provide for the purchase of a several acres plot on both sides of the Big Run and which is owned by the Hanna estate. The plot, south of Long avenue, will cost the city $2,000. The purchase will make it possible to arrange a playground there. However, before it can be used for that purpose some huge boulders will have to be removed and the plot leveled.

America's early frontiersmen who could not buy hats, used animal skins to make themselves picturesque and protective head-coverings like the familiar coonskin cap.

Army Specialized Training Program

Students Will Take Examination At Bessemer High School, April 2

Prospective students for the Army Specialized Training program, and the Navy College Training Program, will take qualifying examinations in room 1, in Bessemer High School, at 9 a. m., Friday, April 2. C. B. McMillan, supervising principal announced today.

Many boys accepted for either program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard. The Army and Navy will pay all expenses at the colleges, of students selected on the basis of the tests on April 2, hence there will be no further tests for some months and will High School students or recent graduates will have to take the April 2nd examination, to qualify for this training.

This is an excellent opportunity for every ambitious boy, especially for those who are likely to be drafted within the next year. The purpose of the test is to aid in the selection of prospective officers material for the army, navy, marine, and coast guard. The examinations are designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge of the candidates who will express a choice for the army or the navy at the time of the examination. The Navy V-12 group this selected will report to colleges and universities on July 1 and November 1.

Success in the army examination may mean an opportunity to enter college for the specialized training program, or for assignment to an officers candidate school upon induction into the army. Those who are selected will have all expenses paid by the respective service.

Before the class opens, Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, of the New Castle Public Library, will have an exhibit in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium of books recommended for Religious Book Week. An opportunity is being arranged whereby these exhibit books may be borrowed from the library at the Y. W. C. A.

Membership contributions to the Y. W. C. A. are $1 to $50 a year. It is desired but not required for any Y. W. C. A. class.

Production Of Ice Boxes Authorized

WPB Signs Orders Permitting 250,000 To Be Made For Essential Civilian Needs

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The war production board today authorized production of approximately 250,000 ice boxes during the second quarter of this year to meet essential civilian needs.

Quotas for 26 manufacturers of ice boxes for the second quarter of 1943 total 210,000 units for general consumption. In addition, the order provides that these manufacturers may produce ice boxes in excess of their quotas to fill orders bearing high priority rating.

The latter provision particularly will benefit the national housing administration and permit that agency to schedule its refrigerator contracts as each war housing project nears completion.

Only two sizes of ice boxes will be produced—the 50-pound ice capacity and the other of 75-pound capacity. No restrictions have been imposed on retail sales. The general public may purchase ice boxes through usual trade sources.

The volume of production contemplated for the second quarter of this year represents a 35 per cent increase over the first quarter. Demand for ice boxes is still ahead of supply, officials said.

★ ONE OF AMERICA'S RAILROADS—ALL UNITED FOR VICTORY ★

SOMEDAY the last train to war will roll on the tracks of America's railroads!

It's possible you may see this train as it makes its historic run—and not recognize it. For, in war or peace, all trains look very much alike and operate very much alike.

We railroad men like to think of them not so much as war trains or peace trains, but as swift, sure means of transportation serving the people all of the time.

We like to think of them as bringing fresh eggs from the farm to kids in big cities, coal from the hills to the mills in the valleys, and pretty dresses from Fifth Avenue to women in Kansas—as well as guns and ammunition to men fighting on foreign fields.

And after this war, the vast resources of America's nationwide railroad network will be reconverted to greater peacetime services to you.

All the experience gained under fire, all the improved operating methods developed during the war, are being combined now to give America, which always has enjoyed the finest rail transportation in the world, even more superb service.

You can be proud of the record of American railroads in these wartimes. You will be thrilled by the finer transportation offered by the railroads of tomorrow—after the last train to war.

Governor Pledges Big Production

Says State Will Produce
Three Times As Much
Steel As Peacetime
Japan

MAKES ADDRESS AT PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 31.—The state of Pennsylvania was pledged today by its governor Edward Martin to produce three times as much steel alone as was manufactured in peacetime Japan and also 85 per cent of the total turned out in the entire German Reich.

"Speaking at a dinner sponsored by the Pittsburgh section of the National Council of Jewish Women last night, Governor Martin asked the people of the state to 'work, pray, and sweat' and to 'police ourselves and bring this war to a speedy end.'"

Reviewing the state's contribution to the war effort, Martin said that 900,000 Pennsylvanians would be in the armed forces before the end of the conflict.

Will Produce
On the industrial front he declared:

"We pledge an output of steel greater than that of the United Kingdom, three times greater than the peacetime production of Japan and 85 per cent of the entire German Reich."

"We pledge an enormous production of ships, fighting ships, cargo ships and tankers... a continuing, growing and tremendous output of textiles, grenades, fighting tanks, tank-destroyer guns, anti-aircraft guns, armor plate, airplane parts, gas masks, rifles, bayonets, parachutes, explosives—everything almost that is needed to fight a war."

Pennsylvania's 175,000 farms were commended for producing much vital food for the nation, while the governor also revealed that the state's mines in 1942 had produced one-third of the country's solid fuel.

Despite the glowing picture painted of Pennsylvania's productive capacity, Martin warned the war is not nearly won yet.

"We feel that we have done much, but we must do far more if we are not to go down smashed and ruined by our enemies. We must work, pray and sweat until final victory is achieved."

Dog Owners Urged To Observe Laws

Number Of Stray Dogs Increase In State; Owners Liable For All Damages

HARRISBURG.—Declaring that the number of stray dogs is increasing throughout this state, the Division of Dog Law Enforcement of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture has issued an urgent appeal to all dog owners to comply strictly with the dog laws and thereby prevent damage to property and livestock and damage claims.

Reports also indicate that a large number of persons are being bitten by stray dogs.

With the approach of the flower and vegetable gardening season the appeal to keep all dogs under control becomes more urgent, it is pointed out. The real cause of damage by dogs, it is suggested, is not the dog itself but the neglect of the owner to keep the animal in proper control. It is insisted that to place a license tag on a dog will not stop it from doing damage nor will tagging a dog exempt the owner from prosecution if it is not properly controlled. It is required that all dogs from six months of age be licensed and that it wear the license tag at all times. Dogs running at large should be reported to the local police or constables, it is stated.

In addition to the damage caused by uncontrolled dogs to property and livestock, it is stated that they also cause much damage to wildlife. During the past year the Department of Agriculture paid a total of approximately $25,000 in claims for damages caused by dogs to property and livestock. In addition to that amount dog owners made settlements totalling nearly $5,000.

Sturdy Curtiss P-40s Outshine "Glamor Ships"

Older Type Craft Smashed Jap Raid On Oro Bay; Lightnings Almost Inactive

By FRANK ROBERTSON

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, March 31.—Lockheed lightnings, the speedy two-motored "glamor ships" of the Allied fighter force, surrendered the spotlight to the sturdy, older Curtiss P-40s in the smashing of the heavy Japanese raid on Oro Bay, it was disclosed on Tuesday.

In the battle over the Allied New Guinea base, in which well over two score enemy planes attempted to overwhelm the Allied base, the reliable Kittyhawks accounted for seven enemy planes destroyed and ten probables out of the total of 25 Japanese fighters and bombers shot down or heavily damaged.

The enemy formation roared in at low level, apparently confident that their sheer force of numbers would overpower the defenses. But they more than met their match. Lieut. Bob Morse of Omaha, Neb., shot three Zeros into the sea in a few minutes of furious fighting. Capt. Ken Jones of Hawthorne, Cal., dove to within a few feet of the sea to send a divebomber the rest of the way. Then he rose and he go bursts at two more divebombers and a Zero. All were trailing smoke as they sought safety in the clouds.

Lieut. Robert Howard of Oakland, Calif., shot down one divebomber and damaged two others. Single Zeros were credited to Lieut. Russell Francis of Syracuse, N. Y., and Lieut. Stan Hunter of Laverne, Calif.

Lightning pilots were not entirely inactive during the air battles over the Allied harbor. Lieut. Martin Alger (address unavailable) sent one Zero down in flames and probably destroyed another.

Tent Caterpillars Now Forming Nests

Local Pest Can Be Destroyed Easily Now, By Hand, Or By Sprays

HARRISBURG, March 31.—It is not too early in the season to be on a sharp lookout for the nests of the tent caterpillar which are now being formed, the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture has suggested.

The first formations of the nests are found early in the spring as slight white webs in the smaller crotches of the tree in which the egg mass was placed by the female last year. The tents are at first no larger than a 25-cent piece.

As soon as the nests are located they should be removed with the hand and all the small caterpillars crushed. The best time to attempt the destruction is during cool, wet weather when the caterpillars will be inside the tent. It is not advised to remove the tent by burning as the flames frequently kills the bark on the limbs and may cause serious damage.

It is pointed out that it is also easy to kill the young caterpillars with a spray of lead arsenate which is made by placing one and one-half pounds of water. To insure success in destroying the pests, all the foliage of the infested tree should be covered with the spray.

Lions Club Will Assist Bond Drive

Club Votes To Offer Services As Body In Coming Campaign

New Castle Lions Club voted unanimously to offer its services to the committee in charge of the coming war bond sale campaign, in whatever capacity they may be called upon to serve. The action was taken at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club in The Castleton, Tuesday noon.

The meeting was devoted largely to business, with reports from the various committees being offered. Lion Don Wilson gave an interesting discourse on the banking business, in which he is engaged, as part of the program of the day.

RIPPER BILLS ARE FEATURED IN LEGISLATURE

House Passes Measure To Oust Beamish From P. U. C. By 126-76 Vote

By JOHN PAGET

HARRISBURG, March 31.—Three "ripper" bills aimed at the state civil service commission, the Pennsylvania board of parole and public utility commissioner Richard J. Beamish highlighted the general assembly's agenda today.

By a strict party vote of 126 to 76, the Republican house majority won passage for a senate-approved measure ousting the 73-year-old Democratic commissioner from his $10,000 a year post and sent the bill to Gov. Edward Martin. Beamish, who said he would test the legality of the move in the U. S. supreme court, ordinarily would serve until his successor was confirmed by the senate.

The senate placed in position for final action today before seeking house concurrence measures to abolish the parole board and the civil service commission. A measure sponsored by Sen. H. Jerome Jaspian (D) Philadelphia would eliminate the modernized parole system and return the supervision of more than 10,000 paroled convicts to the board of pardons and county courts. He indicated supplementary legislation would be introduced to increase the pardon board's appropriation if his proposal won the approval of the assembly and was signed by the governor.

The third "ripper" bill, co-sponsored by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin, the Republican state chairman, and Sen. George N. Wade (R) Cumberland, would abolish the civil service commission, established by an act of the 1941 legislature, for the duration of the war and making provisional all merit appointments since December 7, 1941 pending new examinations at the cessation of hostilities.

"The house was to convene today at one o'clock and the senate two hours later."

Wealthy Chicagoan Pens Own Epitaph, Kills Self At 92

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 31.—Joseph A. Adams, 92, wealthy retired live stock and lumber dealer, shot and killed himself on Tuesday, police reported, after writing his own epitaph.

The body was found in the suite of a fashionable North Side hotel where police came upon his note: "Died by his own hand March 30, 1943. Joseph A. Adams, Belden-Stratford Hotel, Chicago, as the quickest and surest way to deliver much the greater part of his possessions, including life, to his favorite organization, in the community where he has spent all except the first ten of his ninety-one years and at the same time cut off the tedious dragging out of old age."

DENIES PRESIDENT ILL WITH MEASLES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The White House on Tuesday denied published reports that President Roosevelt's recent illness was caused by German measles rather than a head cold as announced.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early, asked to comment on the report, replied that he would take the president's physicians' word for it that the president suffered from a cold rather than measles.

The "li" a Chinese measure of length, is the equivalent of one one-hundredth of a day's walk and slightly exceeds one-third of a mile on the level.

METHODISTS PLAN VISITATION WEEK

At the Mahoning Methodist church, Monday evening through Thursday evening of next week, supper meetings will be held in the church dining room, which will include workers of the church and those of surrounding Methodist churches.

Rev. Walter W. Gilliland, pastor of Savannah Methodist church, who is attending the coaching school at Pittsburgh, this week, to lead and instruct the workers, at a meeting Sunday afternoon at four in Savannah church.

Following the supper meetings, assignments will be given to teams of workers, who will go out to visit people of the community and lay before them the claims of Christ and His church.

CHILD IS INJURED

WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Lawrence Pasquerello, of 806 South Jefferson street, was struck by an auto driven by Irwin W. Stevenson, of R. F. D. No. 6, on North Liberty street, Tuesday afternoon. He was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where an examination revealed only a slight head injury.

Stevenson was passing a coal truck at the end of Liberty street, which was unloading coal, when the child is said to have run out in front of his car, and was knocked down.

MAHONING SCHOOL

BEING IMPROVED

Janitors and assistants in the employ of the city school administration, have completed the painting and renovating of the rooms, except the halls, of the Mahoning school. The work has been well done, and the rooms have been given a welcome cheerful appearance, and principal, teachers and pupils are quite pleased. The workmen are now busy painting and brightening up the basement rooms.

VICTORY GARDENING

Interest in Victory gardening is ever on the increase in the ward. Folks are registering with Mr. Lutton, at Weller's hardware store, for lots on the plot of ground on Lafayette street, north of the railroad tracks. One man was in yesterday asking Mr. Lutton if he believed the ground too soft to haul manure on the lot he was going to use. He was advised to wait a few days.

EXPLORERS PATROL

Members of the Explorers Patrol, of the Mahoningtown Boy Scouts Troop 4, met at the home of Philip Tellow, of Sixth street, March 28. It was decided to have a party in the near future. First Aid was discussed.

TRANSFERRED

Mrs. W. I. McCartney, of West Clayton street, has received word that her son, Private First Class, Byrl McCartney, has been transferred from Aberdeen Ordnance School, Maryland, to Camp Santa Anita, California.

GROUP TO MEET

Members of the Sons and Daughters of St. Margaret's society will meet Thursday evening, April 1, at six o'clock, for their meeting; Mrs. Anna Domerick in charge.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS ARRIVE

Mrs. Sally Deegan, of East Cherry street, has received word from her son, Private Paris Deegan, attached to the U. S. Marines, stationed "somewhere overseas", that he is safe and well. He also cabled to say that he has begun receiving his Christmas packages, and expressing thanks, and that buddies with him are also receiving theirs.

COMMANDO HIKE

Members of Boy Scout Troop 4 had a "commando hike and raid," as outlined in the December issue of "Scouting," during the week end. Two sides were chosen, the white and brown, each boy having a white or brown arm-band. To "kill" a commando, his opponent's arm-band must be ripped off, whereupon he reports his victory to headquarters. Points were awarded to the victors.

"The loss of life was great, each side lost a general and a large amount of soldiers. Four raids were made during the day, the white side gaining the final 'victory'. The hike was successful, and another will be held in the near future.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

Instead of meeting on Thursday evening, the McCoy Bible Class of the Mahoning Methodist church will meet on Friday evening, at 8, in the church.

DONALD NELSON IS SPARED PARACHUTE JUMP AT CHICAGO

(International News Service) CHICAGO, March 31.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, and his top assistants, were thankful today they didn't have to risk a crash landing or a parachute jump over the Chicago municipal airport.

When their navy plane arrived in Chicago from Washington, the landing gear jammed and an embarrassed co-pilot asked them whether they wanted to take a chance on a crash landing or use their parachutes.

Nelson and his party donned parachutes and prepared for the worst. For 45 minutes the plane circled the airport while mechanics hammered at the jammed gear. Their worries were needless, for the landing gear finally was freed.

GRASS FIRES RAGE AROUND PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—March was making a lamb-like exit today—in a pall of smoke from grass and brush fires in Allegheny and nearby counties.

One fire burned over 60 acres in North Versailles township yesterday, and Pittsburgh city firemen fought more than 10 grass fires yesterday, none of which were serious however.

Fire wardens estimated that more than 1,000 acres have been swept by fires in adjacent Westmoreland county in the past 24 hours.

NEW POLICY ON DRAFT IS GIVEN

Seek To Encourage Return Of Farm Workers To Farms Of Nation

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—On the heels of a new policy announced by President Roosevelt to encourage the return of farm workers to the farm, the war manpower commission today served notice that it was geared to act promptly on the reclassification of draft eligibles who are in 35 "non-deferrable" job categories on April 1.

At his regular semi-weekly press conference, the chief executive made public a program worked out by the war department and the WMC under which soldiers over 38 years of age would be placed on an "inactive" status, rather than discharged as in the past.

In order to be released from the armed services, men between the ages of 38 and 45 must request transfer to an inactive status for the purpose of entering essential industry, including agriculture, and their requests must be accompanied by an approving statement from their local draft boards.

The effect of this change in policy is to make certain that men released from the army will serve in essential industry, for, if they should transfer to a non-essential occupation, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, they "will be recalled to active duty upon the request of the war manpower commission."

Likewise, the president announced men between the ages of 18 and 38 who have been classified as 4-F because of physical disability, will be "urged" to return to farm or dairy work, if they have had any previous experience in these lines.

Juveniles Create Reign Of Terror

Abduct And Rob Three Junior Members Of Lake Forest Social Set

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 31.—Five of Chicago's "Dead End Kids" started a juvenile reign of terror early today, climaxed by the abduction and robbery of three junior members of the Lake Forest social set.

The socialites are the heirs to the Armour, Clow and Priebe fortunes—Stanton Armour, 18, Kent Clow, 18, and Helen Joy Priebe, 18, who recently inherited the major part of $800,000.

Armour is the son of Lieut. Comm. Lester Armour of the meat packing family. Kent, Sr., is vice-president of James B. Clow and Sons, plumbing supply firm.

The "Dead End Kids" also stole three cars and robbed a priest during their wild rampage which wound up with three of them in the arms of the law and their three young victims back in the arms of their families.

After raising a hue and cry which extended from the Wisconsin state line on the north to the Indiana state line on the south, the three "Kids" were captured in the heart of Chicago at State and Adams streets.

The "Kids" arrested gave their names as Robert "Bozo" Kravish, 17, Richard "Amateur" Shengold, 19, and Ray "Wiggle Ears" Weglowski, 17.

The three named their companions, whose arrest was expected momentarily.

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drvbig, granddaughter of the deceased, and sons, Rev. Daniel Hommer of Windber, Pa. and Rev. and Mrs. Don DeFino and children, of New Bethlehem, Pa.

CHICKEN COOP BAN MAY BE LIFTED IN PITTSBURGH SOON

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—It took only three days of meat rationing to change the viewpoint of highly industrialized Pittsburgh.

City council, it was revealed, is contemplating lifting present zoning laws which ban the raising of poultry by individual families.

Up until now it has been illegal to put a chicken coop within 25 feet of a house, within the city limits, but with meat getting leaner the city fathers think raising chickens would ease the food situation considerably.

Charges Buildings In Pittsburgh Are 'Slowly Decaying'

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—Buildings in Pittsburgh are "slowly decaying" because they are allowed to go unpainted and unrepaired," Edward J. Leonard, city councilman, declared today.

He said no one in the city lands and building department "knows how to care for roofing, plumbing and other parts of a structure which call for constant watching."

Leonard's attack was backed up by Fire Chief William Davis who said he knew of many buildings which were "already unsafe."

The city has decided to appoint a commission to make a survey of Pittsburgh's buildings and to develop a general repair plan.

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—All the words in Webster's dictionary are in a will filed here for probate, but only 33 of them actually make up the document.

The dictionary, with the will written on a back fly-leaf, was accepted by the register of wills as the last testament of Mrs. Nellie A. Hagarty, who died two years ago.

There was nothing in the woman's effects to suggest that she left a will until recently, when a daughter, Mary Margaret Hagarty, found the dictionary hidden away in a closet.

"All that I have or ever shall have I bequeath to my two darling children, Nicholas and Mary Margaret Hagarty. No other official document is necessary other than what I am writing now."

Big Steel-Labor Disputes To Be Decided By WLB

All Rate Case Grievances In USS Subsidiaries Settled Through WLB Appeal

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—Rate case grievances which arise in plants of manufacturing subsidiaries of United States Steel Corporation will be submitted in the future to the War Labor Board, it was made known today at the close of a three-day conference among representatives of "big steel" and the CIO-United Steel Workers of America.

Alleged rate inequalities heretofore have been handled through the four steps of the regular grievance procedure, by the conference decided to expedite solutions to such matters by appealing directly to WLB.

Company officials and union spokesmen also decided to have the joint commission of up last September continue its study of rate cases in an effort to work out an improved formula.

Plant executives of Carnegie-Illinois Steel, National Tube, American Steel and Wire, Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad and Columbia Steel attended the session.

Church Sodality Conducts Meeting

St. Mary's Young Ladies Sodality held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, vice-president, Kathleen Schooley, presiding.

After reports from the various committees, plans were made for the Day of Recollection to be held in St. Mary's church, Sunday afternoon, April 4, from 1 to 5 o'clock. Hymns for the event were practiced under the direction of Rev. Fr. Francis King.

An interesting talk was given by Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, and he chose the subject of "World Wide Sodality Day," which will be held in St. Paul's Cathedral in Pittsburgh, May 9.

May Set Up Labor Union Commission For State Control

Would Investigate Unions, Leaders And Report To 1945 Legislature

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, March 31.—A measure calling for the establishment of a nine-member commission to investigate labor unions and leaders was introduced in the House Tuesday by Representative William R. McMillen (R-Indiana).

The commission would be composed of three senators, three representatives and three other members appointed by the governor and would be directed to report to the 1945 regular Legislature any recommendations for remedial legislation. The commission would receive a $10,000 appropriation for expenses, McMillen's bill stated.

"Some labor unions have been and are now preventing the employment of competent labor and many occupations and industries in this state, including vital war projects, by capriciously and arbitrarily refusing enrollment in their unions requiring excessive payments for union membership."

"Some labor leaders and officers of unions have been and are now using these methods to exploit, for their own enrichment, honest labor, including expert mechanics, citizens of Pennsylvania, and in fraud of their own unions."

"Some so called union leaders have been and are now misusing their positions to blackmail legitimate employers in this state by threats and intimidations that are capricious and arbitrary and motivated by a desire for their own personal aggrandizement, to the great detriment of not only our own war industries, but causing needless and far-reaching damage to the war effort of the state and the nation."

Götter is a relatively infrequent cause of death.

CHICKEN SALAD

Home cooking is different from restaurant cooking, or church suppers, or lodge banquets.

There is not so much danger from disease carriers in the home. Sometimes there is a person among those who prepare food who carries disease germs. This person handles a chicken salad after it is cooked. The salad is kept a few hours before eating. The germs find it a good place to grow.

By the time for the banquet the salad is very dangerous. The people who eat it get sick.

Potato salad sometimes causes trouble in the same way. Sandwich filler is a frequent offender.

Any food with meat in it should be served immediately and not allowed to stand after it is cooked.

Cooking the chicken kills the germs all right. The person who removes the bones may infect it again after it is cooked.

If the salad or other food is made up in small portions and heated in a moderate oven for 5 minutes the germs will be killed. If made up in large amounts, the heat will not penetrate to the center.

Church suppers, lodge banquets or any meals cooked and served by a large number of people are especially likely to have trouble from infected food.

Public May View Marine Pictures

Drill Spectacle Pictures, Girls Junior R.O.T.C. Practice, Opened To Public On Thursday

In connection with a showing of motion pictures of the U. S. Marine Corps drilling team to the girls of the Junior R. O. T. C. of the senior high school at the school on Thursday evening, the public is invited to view the pictures and attend the regular Thursday evening practice of the girls' corps afterwards. This invitation to the public was extended today by Sgt. Michael Shea, of the local Marine office.

Showing the pictures will be Sgt. Martin, a New Castle man, and Sgt. Miller, both of the U. S. Marine Corps public relations department. Time for the pictures will be 7:30.

Afterwards those of the audience who care to remain to watch the Junior R. O. T. C. drill in the school gymnasium will be welcome. Miss Margaret Fischer, girls athletic director, said.

Maybe we shouldn't hate the enemy, but it might help production if we'd at least get peeved at him.

Navy Seeks More Men For "Seabees"

Men Within Draft Age Can Secure Release From Draft If They Qualify

All craftsmen, 17 to 50½ years of age, are now eligible to apply for enlistment or induction in the Navy's construction battalion, or "Seabees". Navy Recruiter Chief Shipfitter David C. Ritchie was informed today by Lieut. Commander E. B. Keckler, officer in charge of the Pittsburgh Navy recruiting district.

Applicants for "SeaBee" duty should apply at the local Navy recruiting station, Post Office Building, any day except Sunday, between eight a. m. and five p. m. Those 17 years of age and those over 38 years of age will be inducted immediately if found physically qualified.

Those between the ages of 18 and 37 years will undergo a physical examination and an interview. If found qualified they will be given letters to their Selective Service Boards specifying that they are volunteers for immediate induction into the Navy. When released by the boards they will be inducted and assigned to the "SeaBee" organization.

Advanced ratings may be assigned these volunteers, depending upon their qualifications and experience. Craftsmen sought include: blacksmiths, bulldozer operators, carpenters, concrete workers, crane operators, divers, draftsmen, drillers, electricians, engine operators, gas and diesel engine repairmen, mechanics, pile drivers, shovel operators, pipefitters, plumbers, powermen, riggers, roach machine operators, sheet metal workers, steelworkers, telephone and switchboard men, welders, wharf builders and wire splicers.

Wyoming Tops Georgetown, 46-34; Cops NCAA Crown

Cowboys Spurt To Drop Hoyas In Thrilling Tilt

Westerners Wipe Out Five Point Deficit In Closing Six Minutes

FACE ST. JOHN'S THURSDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK, March 31.—A resourceful Wyoming Cowboy five today held the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship after trouncing a stubborn Georgetown university quintet, 46-34, in a game which featured a startling comeback, Tuesday night in Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of more than 13,000 tensely watched the thrill-packed game as the westerners trailed by five points with only six minutes to play. Then, in two scintillating flurries, the cowboys ran up 11 and 9 points respectively leaving the Hoyas hopelessly behind.

Sailors Score Surge
The final surge by the players from the high plains was paced by Captain Kenny Sailors, who later was awarded the Chuck Taylor trophy as the most valuable player in the event. Prominently assisting him was substitute Jim Collins who performed with beautiful precision and accuracy.

Ten times before Wyoming ran ahead like a wild horse, the score had been tied in the game which finally ended with a tally of 46 to 34. Twice in the first half, Georgetown led by five points only to see the westerners in a two-point lead at half-time.

Hoyas Go Ahead
Early in the second session the Hoyas again jumped out five ahead with a seven-point spurt, a lead which they maintained, despite Wyoming scorings. Then, with the score at 31 to 26 in favor of the Georgetown five, the westerners "got tough" and staged the rallies which clinched the game for them.

Georgetown upset N. Y. U. and DePaul to cop the eastern NCAA crown and the right to meet the western winner. Wyoming blasted into Manhattan a heavy favorite to win as the western entry.

The Cowboys battle St. John's, National Invitational Tournament winner, Thursday night in the Garden. The Red Cross will benefit.

In a preliminary skirmish last night, the Manhattan Coast Guard defeated the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, 56-43.

WALTERS IS BACK ON ACTIVE LIST

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

I. J. Nealon, former anthracite coal region resident, is a field supervisor with headquarters at Butler for the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office, U. S. department of agriculture. He gets here now and then. Throughout his years he has been a devotee of the Manly Art of Self Defense and has witnessed some stirring encounters. Today the mail brings a letter stating:

"I was greatly impressed with that Patsy Brannigan write-up which brings to mind that I'll have to meet Patsy some day and ask him if he remembers the night that he met one Chubby Joe O'Boyle beneath the grandstand at the old Minooka (Pa.) race track. (Minooka is located a few miles outside Scranton). He beat O'Boyle and they had to head Chubby Joe home as Patsy closed both his lamps. They were the good old days when we had to sneak out and hide to put on the boots."

The writer remembers when Patsy went to Lackawanna county to engage in several bouts. Tom McMahon also fought there about the same time. That was the section around which George Chip roamed. Providence being the exact spot and if one desires to become more specific we might remind George that the spot was called "The Notch." Coming from a fight in Carbondale one right the street car travelled only as far as Providence and the writer was one who had to walk to Scranton at 3 a. m.

Nealon is a pal of Emmett (Kid) Wagner who fought Mike Gibbons, George Chip, in fact, practically all of the good middleweights several decades ago. The Kid sold his hotel in Wilkes Barre and went to Hollywood where he played in several movies. Later his daughter played in the movies but gave it up when she married. Her husband is now a captain in the Air Force and not so long ago he dropped some "eggs" on some of Horihito's Nips in the Aleutians. While in the east recently the Wagners visited Nealon at Butler, running over here to visit Chip.

Harold Dean, the State Motor cop who was a boxer in West Virginia U. which is one of the reasons why he is selected as a local judge. Johnny Dean, marine who was on recruiting duty here is getting along alright in the Marine Sergeant's school in Philadelphia which is gladsome news. Some branches of the service are being taught Judo, the feature of which is the element of surprise. Its a combination of Ju Jitsu and American "rough-house" fighting.

Chicago Cubs Shape Up As Good-Looking Outfit

Manager Jimmy Wilson Believes Club Will Be Surprise Of National Loop

TEAM HAS LOST FIFTEEN PLAYERS

By WAYNE K. OTTO

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 31.—In some respects the 1943 Cubs are going to start the season with benefits with which they never before have been blessed and in view of the fact, their manager Jimmy Wilson, believes they will prove the surprise of the league.

In spite of the handicaps supposed to have been imposed by the war-time measure of northern training the Cubs, man for man, are in surprisingly good physical shape. The answer is simple. A majority of them worked long and hard hours at war defense work before reporting to camp.

Good-Looking Outfit

"It's a good-looking outfit" hazarded Manager Wilson after watching his men overcome such handicaps as cold winds and flooded fields during the first ten days of training at the local Spa. "We've lost fifteen players to the services and war work but at that I don't believe we're hit as hard as many of the other teams." When Lou Stringer and Bob Sturgeon, his keystone combination

TO KEEP CHART OF PHIL PLAYERS

HERSHEY, Pa., March 31.—Close on the heels of having set baseball precedent by having the entire Phillies club go through a stringent physical examination in a doctor's office, Trainee Doc. Bruce today promised the group would also receive the benefits of an eye, nose and throat specialist upon its return to Philadelphia.

"I'm going to keep a chart on every player throughout the season and whenever I think it wise, off he will go for another checkup," Bruce declared.

of 1942, when off to service, Wilson admitted he had some gray hairs but that events since then had restored his optimism.

For example, Lennie Merullo, always a whiz as a fielder, has been playing a great shortstop this spring and Stuart Martin, acquired in a trade with Minneapolis, has shown himself to be a capable replacement for Stringer. However, Shortstop Ed Stanky, from Milwaukee, is a dark horse. Last year Stanky played great ball.

As to Stan Hack, you don't have to say much about him; he's the best third sacker in the league.

First Base Problem
That leaves first base something of a problem for Wilson but he is not as bad off as a lot of his fellow managers. He has a pretty good performer available in Philadelphian, who also does better than a passable job in the outfield.

Only worry of the Cubs in the outfield has been reported as the selection of the man who will play center, long a weak spot in the Cubs' defensive scheme. However, judging from past performances the other gardens are just as important.

MACK APPEALS DRAFT STATUS

CLEVELAND, March 31.—Selective Service officials today investigated the classification of Ray Mack, Cleveland Indian second baseman, whose reclassification put him from 3-A to 1-A. Mack appealed to his local board after coming to Cleveland from the Indians' training camp at Lafayette, Ind.

Draft board No. 29 listed Mack as single since he was married when induction was imminent. The Macks, parents of one child, were married October 16, 1940.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

It might interest you to know:—

That—Rugged John Zubkovsky, a member of Ne-Ca-Hi's WPAL grid title team and a better than average basketballer, is looking forward to his next assignment—with Uncle Sam's Army. The wiry athlete, who departs Friday morning, would like nothing more than an immediate "crack at those yellow Japs."

That—Steve G. Kakos, East Long avenue sports addict, is headed for the Seabees. A former Ne-Ca-Hi griddler, Steve was a key figure in organizing the St. George Greek Orthodox association of the south side.

That—In Steve Wasilewski, long distance runner, New Castle high can boast of one of the most promising track candidates in the district. While in Franklin high, Steve would take time out to compete with the "Cane cinders. And—he'd show them a thing or two.

WASDELL GETS CALL

MUNCIE, Ind., March 31.—Pirate pitchers Truett Sewall and Hank Gornicki were both sidelined for a couple of days today with minor hand injuries inflicted by line drives. Ball State Teachers' college visits McCulloch Field for an informal exhibition game with the Cubs this afternoon. Outfielder Jimmy Wasdell received orders from his Cleveland draft board to report for his first physical examination.

A'S BEAT DELAWARE, 2-0
WILMINGTON, Del.—By the bare margin of 2 to 0 the Athletics today held a victory over the University of Delaware in their first training season ball game. Both runs came in the sixth on singles. The A's mound staff was augmented yesterday by the appearance of Orrie Arntzen, six-foot-two-inch Dane from Cedar Rapids, Ia.

JAVERY RESPECTABLE
WALLINGFORD, Conn.—Al Javery, hurling ace of the Boston Braves, had broken the ice today after appearing on the practice field wearing glasses. A user of the lenses out of the ball park for several months, Javery for the first time yesterday appeared on the mound wearing the seeing aids.

DOERR REPORTS

MEDFORD, Mass.—Bobby Doerr, infielder and Oscar Judd, pitcher, today were to undergo their first day of practice in the current training season. The players arrived too late last night to take part in the Boston Red Sox workouts.

eanwhile, Eddie Lake, who contracted measles, was reported resting well.

STARS ON PARADE
LAKEWOOD, N. J.—Four of the Giant pitching stars will perform today in a practice game scheduled to go on regardless of weather.

Those slated for the mound are Johnny Wittig, Bobby Coombs, Harry Feldman and Carl Hubble. The hurling demonstration will be Wittig's first of the season and general praise is held for his performance.

DERRINGER-SMITH HURL

FRENCH LICK, Ind.—Paul Derringer and Eddie Smith will take the mound for the Cubs and White Sox respectively today in a preview of the Chicago city spring series.

The game, scheduled only as a morale stretcher, will have no bearing on the city series which opens when the two teams return from spring training camp.

Eddie Hanzewski and Lon Warneke also will pitch for the Cubs, and Bill Dietrich and Don Hanski will complete the White Sox mound staff.

SEINSOVERS HAILED

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—William Seinsover, rookie southpaw who won 24 games for New Orleans last year, was hailed today as the answer to the St. Louis Browns' pitching problems. On the first day in camp Seinsover took his turn ably on the mound in batting practice.

NATS VS NORFOLK

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Washington Senators today move to Norfolk for a series of five training games with the Naval and Air Base Service teams which boost a long list of former big league stars. Manager Ossie Bluege of the Senators said he would divide pitching duties for the first game between "Dutch" Leonard, his No. 1 pitcher and Milo Candini, former New York Yankee hurler.

INDIANS FACE PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Strengthened by a long batting drill, the Cleveland Indians today faced the Purdue University nine in a practice game. Roy Cullenbine, who still is suffering from weak ankles, led the Indians yesterday in intensive batting practice in which Ray Mack and rookie outfielder Hank Edwards also connected with some heavy blows.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—United States Trotting association has re-elected C. W. Rittenour of Piketon, O. as president of the entire slate of 1942 officers was retained.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, March 31.—These are unusual times and, admittedly, it would not be greatly surprising to learn that the next main event being planned at the Garden will be between Beau Jack and Mike Jacobs. Nonetheless, it's a little bewildering, especially to a man whose arteries are beginning to crackle, to learn now to find Hen Armstrong still in the middle of the ring at Madison Square Garden, and drawing $100,000, which apparently he will do with Beau Jack on Friday night.

It's almost as though time was stood, transfixed, in the midst of its inexorable course; as though the interim were nothing at all it stood for a grim and ghastly prank, perpetrated by a set of unmitigated scoundrels just to delude the eye and befuddle the mind. I even heard Benny Leonard yesterday talking up the 1943 Armstrong as one of the great lightweight of the ages.

It's the same Armstrong whose last entry in the 1941 Nat Plescher record book reads as follows: "1941—Jan. 17, Fritz Zivic, N. Y. C.—KO by 12."

Fools Wise Guys

They thought that was Henry's epitaph. As a matter of fact, he hasn't been in the Garden since. But a lot of guys were around, going into a rush about him, as he worked out for three rounds at Stillman's gym, and there were those who said the 2-1 price against Armstrong would recede to 6-5, and Benny Leonard who ought to know lightweight, was saying this:

Armstrong would have been a first class lightweight in Gans' day, or mine. Or Tony Canzoneri's, or any time you want to pick when lightweight were considered to have been at their best. He was a great fighter. Maybe he still is. He doesn't seem much different to me."

Not much, no. Only the overhanging of bulging tissue around the eyes, making him always look as though he was wearing a head-guard. And a teetering effect about the legs as he moves in to the attack; and the feeling that nobody who is chasing 32 and has been fighting 11 years can be quite the same, just because of the fact that these things are so.

Still, he beat Zivic among others in winning 16 out of 18 fights in his comeback and, as long as all he has to beat are the Beau Jacks of this comical profession, it might very well be that he'll come all the way. Never, of course, back to the ideal phases of his career, when the amazing thing was not so much that an opponent might be able to long survive the merciless lam-basting dealt out, but that any man could thus stand and deal it out, minute after minute and round after round, until the performance became practically a blur of violence and abuse.

Record Unmatched

Nobody in the history of boxing ever has fought that way. There was the night, for instance, he lambasted Barney Ross until the referee pleaded with Ross to stop and the spectators bawled at the referee to stop it; and nothing happened, except a gruesome finale. Or the night he made his garden debut by knocking out Pete Sarason for the first of his three championships. It seems a little odd that there was roughly $100,000 in the house that night.

Perhaps, after all, the last five years never happened.

KELLER QUILTS HOLDOUT RANK

Outfielder Reportedly Signs For $14,000; Crosetti Still Balking

(International News Service)

ASBURY PARK, N. J., March 31.—Frank Crosetti today was the only Yankee veteran infielder as yet unsigned following capitulation of Charley Keller. Although there was no official announcement, under-reports put Keller's salary at $14,000.

The signing of Keller marked the return to the fold of the last two Yankee holdouts of immediate importance. Crosetti, because he is ineligible to play before April 21, has caused the management no immediate worry.

BUCKNELL BISSONS CUT TRACK, TENNIS

LEWISBURG, Pa., March 31.—Transportation difficulties were cited today as the reason for abandoning the spring schedule for track and tennis at Bucknell University. B. W. Griffith, director of athletics, said the Bisons would nevertheless play an eight-game baseball card, including games with Pitt, Penn State, Temple, Juniata, Lebanon Valley and Muhlenberg.

PREPARING FOR BENEFIT SHOW

Committee from the Fraternal Order of Police (city paid department) are preparing to stage a benefit for their pension fund with a boxing show April 28.

Short And Sweet:

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, March 31.—New York Yankees' American League pennant chances have begun to soar again, all because Joe Gordon has signed up (reportedly for $20,000).

The acrobatic second baseman is their key man, the No. 1 guy, the Mr. Big of the team, especially since Joe DiMaggio has skipped out. Voted in as the most valuable player in his league last season, Gordon will be expected to play almost the entire infield during the coming race from the way things have been going. Without George Stinneys, who seems likely to go into the army, and others who already have left the team, Gordon looks like a good bet to wind up as a one-man double play combination.

Spring Is Here

Spring is here, by the way, definitely and officially, for the headlines reveal that Van Lingle Mungo is going great with the Giants. He pitched three hitless, scoreless innings in an intralub game. If he could get back some of that stuff, he would be a great man to have around. And it may be that he will come bounding back again for another season or two.

Promoter Mike Jacobs is figuring on a $100,000 house Friday night when Henry Armstrong makes his eastern comeback debut against Beau Jack in a non-title 10-rounder. The odds are 2 to 1 and better on Beau Jack, which makes this a great spot for another upper such as the one Sammy Amott perpetrated against Willie Pep. The first few rounds will tell the story of how much the former triple crown-wearer still packs in the way of dynamite.

Louis Polli, a 39-year-old warrior who last season scored 16 victories

MOORE'S BATTING EYE STILL 20-20

CAIRO, Ill., March 31.—Ferry Moore, former center fielder of the champion St. Louis Cardinals, proved to his former teammates today that he had not lost his batting eye since he joined the Army as physical education instructor.

Moore got two hits, a double and a single, to help his side win a 3 to 4 victory in yesterday's practice game in which Harry Gumbert, retired nine straight batters.

for the Jacksonville, Fla. club, has been signed by Jersey City, the wonder of it all being how he ever escaped the Brooklyn Dodgers who are collecting the elderly giant this season. Maybe Polli isn't quite old enough yet.

After all these months in the navy, Slamm'n Sam Sneed still can shoot good enough golf to win a major championship—if there were any major championships. He won a minor event in California with a pair of 67s on par 72 layout, or 10 below par. . . . which reminds that Sneed could have used some of those shots on several occasions when they really would have meant something, such as in several National Opens. National P.G.A. tournaments and elsewhere. He could get hot and then go cold quicker than any guy ever to travel the fairways.

The service is getting the gent who may have been the best of them all—Ben Hogan. . . . There are golfers who will tell you that he could play more shots better than any man before him, and any of his time, too. . . . The records go a great distance to bear this out. He at least was the most consistent of all golfers and that puts him in a class by himself.

Golf—All Gone

That bit of wandering off the beaten path into golf, brings up the reminder that there won't be any this year. No National Open, no P.G.A., no Masters and very little of anything else. . . . About this time in other days the winter tour would be on in full swing leading toward the big fixtures. . . . In case you're interested, Craig Wood is the Open champion, Sneed the pro title hold-out and Byron Nelson the Master's champion for the duration. Wood is just getting over an operation of the back ailment that nearly ruined his game.

Hockey Attractive, Eddie Shore Avers

Eddie Shore, one of ice hockey's all-time greats, is of the opinion that the game minus the rough stuff is just as attractive to the fans as when the sticks were flying at the heads.

"The players are getting smarter," he says. "They don't get cut up like we used to. This is just as good a game, and faster, too. The fans like it, and that's what counts."

JAKE LA MOTTA BATTERS HARRIS

Pittsburgher Serves As Punching Bag; 4,500 Fans See Fast Scrap

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 31.—Jolting Jake La Motta, the erstwhile Bronx bombshell, battered veteran Ossie Harris from pillar to post last night at the Gardens to win a 10-round decision in a fast fight.

Under the direction of Leo "The Lip" Durocher, sixteen selling "teams" of players, some of them accompanied by sports writers, will tour the borough, visiting war plants, offices and theatres making personal appeals. Each player has been assigned the task of bringing in pledges for purchase of $500.00 worth of bonds.

A crowd of 4,500 cheered the New York middleweight for putting up an action-filled fight, but more than one spectator ventured the opinion as he filed out of the Gardens that Zivic could quell La Motta's famed one-man riot act.

La Motta started throwing punches at the opening bell and was still in there throwing at the finish, with Harris a very able if not willing punching bag. The Pittsburgh colored fighter was never in danger of being knocked out despite the hail of punches he absorbed.

La Motta at 161 outweighed his opponent by six pounds.

Lincoln-Garfield Defeats Rose Ave.

Southside Grade School Basketball Team Advances To City Finals

Lincoln-Garfield basketball team advanced to the city finals Tuesday night when it defeated Rose Avenue 16-7 on the Rose Avenue floor. The game was an exciting one, both teams putting up a fast exhibition. Fred Wimer of the senior high school refereed the game.

Tonight Oak Street and Highland Avenue play and the winner of this game will go into the semi-finals as Lincoln-Garfield draws a bye in the semi-finals.

Detroit Wings To Face Boston For Hockey Title

Top Canadians To Set Up All-United States Stanley Cup Series

MOTOR CITY TEAM IS FAVORED TO

(International News Service)
It will be an all-United States final in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins disposed of their Canadian rivals last night and will open up a best of seven series in Detroit Thursday.

Detroit eliminated Toronto 3-1, while Boston stopped Montreal 5-4. Both were overtime games.

Rookie Scores

Pookie Adam Brown scored the decisive Detroit goal. He was called up from Indianapolis only a week ago to bolster the injury-ridden Detroit club.

An Demaree scored the winning tally for Boston. He also has been in the big league only a short time, having been called up from Providence last month.

Detroit seems favored to win the Stanley Cup, emblematic of world championship in hockey. They have a strong defensive team while both clubs have suffered seriously from injuries and loss of players to the armed forces.

Dodgers To Aid War Loan Drive

"Dem Bums" Assigned To Canvas Brooklyn; Durocher Head Salesman

(International News Service)
BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 31.—"Dem Bums" who sold their selves lock, stock and barrel to U. S. push ball fans are going to do the stunt in selling for Uncle Sam. It was learned today.

The United States treasury department has appointed the Brooklyn team as official salesmen in Brooklyn during the second war loan drive beginning April 12 in which the goal for the Borough of Churches is set at $50,000.00.

Under the direction of Leo "The Lip" Durocher, sixteen selling "teams" of players, some of them accompanied by sports writers, will tour the borough, visiting war plants, offices and theatres making personal appeals. Each player has been assigned the task of bringing in pledges for purchase of $500.00 worth of bonds.

SALARY BOOST FOR LEGISLATORS NOW PENDING

Measure Presented To State Senate In Session At Harrisburg

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 31—Legislation providing for an annual budget, continuing sessions of the General Assembly and increased salaries for Pennsylvania's lawmakers was on file today in the senate committee on state government.

Sen. Harry Shapiro (D) Philadelphia, sponsor, said that three bills represented a "non-partisan effort" to solve the problem of government and that the same time not increase executive power.

Salaries proposed for assemblymen would be $250 a month and $125 a year would be allowed for postage. The assemblymen now receive $3000 every two years and a minimum of $500 for each special session, Shapiro pointed out, however, that under provisions of his bills "the important thing is the meeting of the general assembly." He said that "the governor can call the assembly back at no extra cost and at any time." He contended that there would be no need under his bills, to call special sessions.

The bill authorizing annual budgets instead of biennial ones would not make them compulsory but subject to the governor's discretion.

Shapiro presented the bills with the intention of supplanting a joint resolution proposed by Sen. George Woodward (R) Philadelphia. Woodward's bill, which is in position for final passage by the senate, calls for a constitutional amendment to provide annual sessions of the general assembly and an annual budget. For enactment, the measure would have to pass two successive legislatures and the electorate. Similar legislation by Woodward in previous years has failed.

ITALY PREPARES FOR INVASION

(International News Service)
LONDON, March 31—Orders have been given to the Italian populace concerning the militarization of Italy and the conduct of residents in event of an Allied invasion, the German radio said today.

The broadcast, recorded by Reuters, said:

"In event of complete, or partial mobilization, all citizens not under arms will be assigned to military units and given military status."

Naval Veteran Home On Furlough

Chief Shipfitter Zapasnik Was Aboard Torpedoed Destroyer
James

Fred Zapasnik, chief shipfitter, U. S. Navy, is home on leave, visiting his parents, of 108 Charles street. Zapasnik, a real veteran of this war, has just returned from duty in the Pacific area. He was rescued from the cold waters of the Atlantic, in October, 1941, when the U.S.S. Ruben James was torpedoed.

Fred has two brothers in the service, Edmund being also a shipfitter in the Navy, while Henry, the youngest brother, is serving in the Coast Guard.

GERMANY WANTS ROMMEL TO HEAD ITALIAN DEFENSE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 31.—Benito Mussolini has received a request from the German high command that Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel be named commander of Italy's "southern defense area" as well as the Mediterranean coast of France, it was reported today.

The report given in a broadcast dispatch of the Tass (Soviet) news agency from Bern, Switzerland, recorded by the P.C.C.

It was stated that German and Italian military leaders now are conferring on the fortification of the Italian Islands of Sicily and Sardinia and the Mediterranean coast of France.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKALL

TONIGHT IS THE NIGHT . . . at 8 o'clock in the Senior High School the Victory Gardeners of the City and surrounding community will get together to talk over the old and new ways of making garden . . . Men and women exactly like you did last year. A to Z will be on hand to answer your questions . . . Colored pictures and Free Booklets on Victory Gardening will be available . . . It's everyone's duty to himself to make plans for securing vegetables for next winter . . . If you don't have room at your home for a garden . . . there are lots available over the city. Get your neighbor interested . . . And a word of caution. Don't make more garden than you can take care of all summer long. You must always battle weeds.

ATTENTION . . . all those who signed up for a garden plot in Edgewood Acres are to meet at the Victory Garden Meeting tonight in the High School. Please be there.

It sure looks good to see Butter in the grocery store again . . . and beef and all the other kinds of meat . . . The display cases of most meat markets look fine. It is nice to just stand in front of the cases and look . . . sure there will be enough now to go around . . . the family that only has two in it will have some need to do more readjusting than the family with four or more . . . although we all must not expect to eat and live exactly like we did last year. It's still better to give up fancy foods and cut down on our consumption and keep our health than to sit in a fox hole in our back yard.

Don't forget that tomorrow is April Fool day . . . don't pick up any stray pocketbooks or kick a hat . . . there might be a joke connected. But more important than tomorrow being April Fools day it also means that summer is that much closer and that means that our work around the homes will be getting heavier. With gas limited this season there should be some mighty neat looking homes this summer. What are your plans.

Some people are going into the chicken business for the first time . . . one fellow raises them in the cellar . . . says they do fine and when they are just so old the wife calls them . . . and they have chicken whenever they want it.

TUNISIAN OUTFIT BOASTS SECOND
'SERGEANT YORK'

Private Byrd Of Tennessee Routs Enemy Force Of 30 With Tommy Gun

By GRAHAM HOVEY
S. Staff Correspondent
WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE GAFSA SECTOR, March 31.—
The Tunisian campaign has produced a potential Sergeant York of World War Two. That was the proud boast today of buddies of Pvt.
Dallas C. Byrd, who like the immortal Sergeant York, is a native of Tennessee. York came from the farming community of Ball Mill.
Byrd is from Johnson City.
Byrd, with the aid of companions, rescued the captain of his tank outfit from no man's land, but before the wounded officer could be evacuated, Byrd routed a force of 30 Germans and Italians, standing off their machine gun fire with a tommy gun.
If he had not run out of ammunition, his comrades said today, he would have "annihilated" the whole enemy force.

Deeply Religious
Byrd was a textile worker in Johnson City. Like York, he has no liking for war, or for killing anyone. Like York, he is deeply religious and before induction was a faithful attendant at the Baptist church in Johnson City.
"He praises the Lord and fights like the devil," one of his buddies said.
Byrd's feat took place in a gully on the slope of Nacmia hill, six miles east of Maknassy. The captain was injured by a mine explosion, but the intense enemy fire forced the American assault force to withdraw before he could be removed.

Volunteers Rescue
Later Byrd volunteered to drive a truck into no man's land and bring out the wounded officer.
"We were just reaching the spot where the captain had been left when I spotted a column of enemy infantrymen moving toward us," Byrd said today.
"We dived out of the truck and hit the ground just as they opened fire," Byrd continued. "I sprayed them with the tommy gun, and got at least three. But I had only one clip of ammunition and when it was gone we dashed back to the truck and made a successful getaway. It was tough having to leave the captain behind.
"That night I was ordered to deliver some food to the front and I decided to try again. This time I was in a jeep.
"Nothing much happened. We made it this time and got the captain safely in the jeep. They say the captain's going to make it all right, and we are all mighty glad, for he is a fine officer."

Russia Accepts Bid To United Nations Meet

Move Interpreted As Practical
Sign Of U.S.S.R. Post-War Cooperation

By KINGSBURY SMITH
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Russia, it was learned authoritatively today, has accepted the American government's invitation to attend a general United Nations conference on post-war problems.
The Russian acceptance is considered of the utmost importance because it is the first definite move by the Soviet government to cooperate with the other United Nations in discussing the solution of post-war problems.

For this reason, it has encouraged the hope in American quarters that the Soviets will be prepared at a later date to co-operate in the solution of other economic and political problems that will confront the Allies after the Axis powers have been defeated.

It is considered, in effect, the first practical sign that Russia may agree to join with the other United Nations in establishing a better world order rather than pursue a policy of isolation.

Purpose of the forthcoming food conference, which is now believed to be scheduled for the latter part of May, will be to explore the possibilities of reaching a joint understanding in respect to the postwar control and distribution of food on the world markets.
The American government hopes that it will lead to a sort of world parity price for farm products, and avoid the danger of economic warfare developing among the major powers in the peace to come.

British Confident Of Allied Victory

Letters To E. C. Gatrall From England Reflect Faith In Righteous Cause

In a country at war where bombs are continually dropping upon homes, taking many lives, including innocent children, a profound spirit of faith in God is evidenced in letters received here by E. C. Gatrall, 408 Hillcrest avenue, from nieces Florence and Marcia Grimsdick in England.

Florence, who is in charge of the Red Cross in the Isle of Wight, known more familiarly as "The St.
John Ambulance Corps," and who in post her mother held during World War I, writes: "We in England, one and all, are confident that victory will be ours, for we believe our cause is a righteous one, and we have ultimate faith that with what has already happened, testifies an overruling hand—that of our God—is guiding our destiny. Our king led the way two years ago when he told us over the air to walk out into the unknown, and to put our trust in God, as he did."

"In our Day of Prayer, Sept. 3, our churches were packed. God is nearer to us now than He ever was in the days of our prosperity, and we are learning many lessons as we are taking a more personal interest in each other.
She summed up one instance of a little brown wooden sign reading "Business As Usual" appearing on the front of a meat market, where a bomb had shattered the building, and inside with the rafters down, and in a newly cleared spot, a butcher was calmly waiting on his trade. "We take things in their stride, with one thought—confidence that WE WILL WIN" she quoted.

Marcia, a school teacher, and her mother have opened a school in New Forest to instruct children forced from their bombed homes. She tells how thankful they are to be alive and how she helps with the harvest.
Marcia concluded that "we in England have implicit faith in our knights to the humblest charwoman in God, that victory will be won by the Allies."

Packages From Polish Mothers Club Being Delivered To Polish Soldiers

The Y. W. C. A. Polish Mothers Club has received another letter from one of the Polish soldiers now in Scotland to whom they sent Christmas presents. This young man was a prisoner in a German concentration camp for 32 months until he finally escaped after many harrowing experiences. He writes:

"Our Polish prisoners are particularly grateful to all the Poles in America. For I remember as if today, the one day in a month in which packages from America were divided among us. Each package was shared by ten soldiers. This was real proof that the former soldier, abused and humiliated by the German race, was being remembered by the outside world. I wish therefore, as a free man again, to extend my sincere thanks to the Y. W. C. A. Polish Mothers club, in the name of my friends, for the help given to Poles who are prisoners in Germany. At the same time, I beg of you not to forget them, but to continue to send them packages of food."

"Today I received the parcel from you containing 200 cigarettes for which I am truly grateful and I thank you sincerely."

Y. W. C. A. Polish Mothers club members are glad to know that the packages they have been sending to Polish prisoners in German concentration camps are being delivered.

Thirteen Polish Mothers club members have already turned in their Y. W. C. A. membership dues in the current membership ingath-ering.

Took 22,000,000 Pounds Of Food On African Invasion

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—
When the American forces made their initial landing in North Africa last November they had with them, among other things, 22,000,000 pounds of food, 33,000,000 pounds of clothing and equipment, and 10,000-000 gallons of gasoline.

This was disclosed on Tuesday by Col. Robert C. Brady, commanding officer of the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, in a speech before the Poor Richard Club.

He described the task of the Quartermaster Corps as the most complicated, most essential and least glorious of any of the services.
Also included in the supply list for the African expedition were alarm clocks, step ladders, safes and go-goggles, Colonel Brady said, adding:

"For purposes of barter, such items as razor blades, stocking, nail polish and chewing gum had also to be provided."

WHAT PRICE VICTORY?

Uncle Sam's first bite for victory tax taken out of court house employees has gone in for the first quarter of the year. The check for victory tax amounts to $1,367.64 which represents five per cent of salaries of over $12 per week.

PLANS STARTED

Meeting with commanders of the various Legion and VFW posts of the county, the county commissioners have started plans for the dedication of the memorial board which will be erected on the court house lawn.

The board will be dedicated on Sunday, May 30, which is Memorial Day. Fred Duff, commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post 343, American Legion is the chairman of the committee for the dedication and A.
Lewis Conn is the secretary.

"The committee will work with the general Memorial Day committee and fit the dedication into the general program of the day."

WILLS PROBATED

The following will have been pro-bated in the office of Register and Recorder Orville Potter:

The will of James Luther Shaw, late of Neshannock township leaves the estate to his nephews, Harry A.
and Paul L. Shaw.

The will of Elizabeth Timm, late of New Castle, leaves the estate to given children, Fred C. Timm, Bertha Morgan, Gustave Timm, Anna Gillespie and Katherine Simpson.

The will of Michael Nido, late of Ellwood City, leaves a son, John Nido, some real estate, and $1 to the following sons and daughters, Alesandro, Emanuela, Angelo, Arcangelo and Rosalia.

The will of Mary K. Leiberger, late of New Castle, leaves a daughter, Philomena Leiberger Berger of Pittsburgh, $150, to a son, George F. Leiberger, $600, and the balance of the estate to a son and daughter,
George F. Leiberger and Rosalia Leiberger Bradley.

Curtailed Travel
In England Points
To Invasion Plans

(International News Service)
LONDON, March 31.—New travel restrictions in Great Britain stem-ing from future use of this country as a base of invasion were announced in the house of commons by minister of home security Herbert Morrison Tuesday.
The new restrictions will apply to the east and south coast from Humber to Penzance and affect an area to a depth of ten miles inland.
"The time has come," he said
"when the question of access to the coastal areas must be considered not solely from the risk of invasion but also from the point of view of the use of this country as a base of offensive operations against the enemy."

City Bureau Issues
Building Permits

During the past several days there have been several permits for repairs and remodeling granted at the city's bureau of building, city hall, as follows:
R. B. Frederick, remodel garage, 1603 East Washington street.
Mrs. August Maki, frame garage, 1054 Beckford street.

First Baptist church, remodel two story brick building, East and North streets.
Frances Sasladek, wire fence, 501 Lyndal street.
Amelia Recupio, remodel frame dwelling, 924 Warren avenue.
A. Fiera, wire fence, 16 Matland street.
Samuel Edelstein, addition to dwelling, 136 East Wallace avenue.
Remodeling at the First Baptist church will cost $2,000, according to an estimate.
